

How Video Conferencing Drives Success

Accelerating business growth through better collaboration

As a business leader, you are held accountable for budget numbers, productivity levels, customer satisfaction and even employee retention. In addition, managing a dispersed workforce adds complication. The need for effective collaboration is at an all-time high.

Video conferencing drives results

A recent global study found that 72 percent of employees believe live video has the power to transform the way they communicate at work. (BlueJeans Research 2016)

How do you get started with video meetings? Regardless of your line of business – sales, marketing, HR, finance, etc. – BlueJeans' video conferencing solution can drive the face-to-face collaboration your workplace needs to be successful.

Benefits of Video Conferencing from BlueJeans:

- Faster time to solution. Real-time collaboration fast-tracks progress.
- Improved communication workflow. One-click connectivity from any device.
- Leverage existing work tools. Seamlessly integrate with calendar, email and chat.
- Instantly share data. And have access to recorded meetings.
- Low-cost collaboration. Face-to-face meetings without travel expenses.

Features of BlueJeans live video conferencing:

- All-in-one HD video, web and audio conferencing
- Connect from laptops, mobile devices, phone dial-in and conference rooms
- One-click connectivity allows users to connect easily and quickly
- Content sharing, video sharing, chat, meeting recording & sharing
- Schedule and join meetings from Google Calendar or Outlook
- Invite external parties – no download or account required to join meetings
- Multi-party video meetings with up to 100 people
- Robust security for business use

Focusing on productivity, not technology

Your team, like many organizations, might use several tools for collaborating, from chatting to hosting a video meeting to sharing a screen. However, using multiple collaboration tools can also make meetings complex and inefficient. BlueJeans' flexible video conferencing platform eliminates the need for multiple tools, allowing the focus to be on productivity, not technology.

BlueJeans integrates audio, video and content sharing into a single solution. A consolidated video collaboration solution brings your team together—enabling smoother communication and faster results.

Ready to ensure seamless collaboration for every user, anywhere, on any device?

Start Free Trial
bluejeans.com/trial